Upcoming LPS Meeting at Outdoor Photo Gear

As we mentioned last month, we are looking at possibly changing our permanent LPS meeting location to Outdoor Photo Gear, one of our LPS sponsors. As a result, our May 8th LPS meeting will be at Outdoor Photo Gear's NEW store location at 13305 Magisterial Drive, off the Old Henry Rd exit off the Gene Snyder.

May 8th Meeting Location

They have ample meeting and parking space for LPS meetings as the retail store is closed when we meet. They have their own projection system and space for our exhibit display as well. They May 8 meeting will be a wonderful opportunity for LPS to try out this location. We will meet at our usual starting time of 7:30, but come early as usual to enter and hang your entries. We are looking forward to this wonderful LPS opportunity!

Outdoor Photo Gear (OPG) is a retailer for outdoor photographic equipment beyond cameras. They have a large retailing presence on the internet, and their Louisville location is their only retail outlet as well as headquarters.

We hope you can join us on May 8th at OPG!

Dr T.Y. Huang to present at May 8th Meeting

Our own LPS member T.Y. Huang will be presenting to the Louisville Photographic Society at the May 8th meeting at Outdoor Photo Gear. His topic will be "Hummingbird Photography. If anyone has tried to photograph a hummingbird will know, this is a difficult venture most times.

Dr T.Y. Huang, known to his friends as T.Y., is a professor of radiology at the University of Louisville School of Medicine. He graduated from medical school in 1966. After two years of mandatory military service in Taiwan, he completed four years of radiology residency training in Taiwan. After his residency. T.Y. Practiced and taught radiology in Tri-service General Hospital Taipei, Taiwan, where he fell in love with photography.

Dr Huang moved to Louisville in 1976 where he repeated his radiology residency and fellowship training and then joined the Department of Radiology at the University of Louisville School of Medicine in 1979. He retired from medical school in 2011.

Because of his radiology background, he developed a good sense of close up and still life photography. He has enjoyed both travel and scenic photography. T.Y says "He travels around the world with his two lovers. Mary, his wife, takes care of everything, and he carries his second lover, the camera bag, on his back."

In his leisure time. he likes hiking and outdoor activities with nature and wildlife photography are his favorite subjects.

T.Y joined LPS in 1999. He has been a frequent winner in photo contests. In 2003, a photo of Locust Grove won the Louisville Historical League's "A Focus on Our Heritage" photo contest with the image adorning the cover of the league's 2004 calendar. He has also won first place and finalist in the Courier Journal Travel photo contests in 2006 and 2007.

He has won several ribbons at the Kentucky State Fair and several plaques at LPS.

Please join us on May 8th for T.Y.'s presentation.

May 11th March for Babies Event.

Come join us on Saturday May 11th at Waterfront Park. This is a different location from previous years at Slugger Field. Every year the LPS helps out the March of Dimes with their March for Babies. The LPS will be providing candid photographs of many of the walk participants. After shooting, we simply download our jpegs, (not raw) from our memory cards to a laptop, and burn a DVD for the March of Dimes. This is the key service activity of the LPS and the March of Dimes appreciates the time and effort of the LPS.

So come join us and sign up with Ted Heitzman at the May 8th meeting.
